The Sanford Blackout Live Performances Descriptions

1. The Sanford Blackout at Paul Searls crib // Saturday, May 7th
“Paul Searl's "Semester From Hell Fest" that was on saturday. good shit. Thanks to Brett Glantz for the upload!
Uploaded on May 10, 2011” - sourced from The Sanford Blackout Facebook page https://www.facebook.com/share/v/12Kx7cEGcAv/

2. Tripple Berry Jam
“Skate. Snow. Music. Slacklines. Unicycles. Hula-hoops. What better way to start your break and or weekend off with good music, some riding on cement and snow, tasty food and good vibes!

LSC Ski and Ride was established to provide students the opportunity to progress as a skier or rider through utilizing on-campus features and by traveling to various off-site locations. The club allows students to connect with other students who have a passion for skiing and riding, and promotes the ski and ride lifestyle. LSC Ski and Ride Club is responsible for numerous ski and ride movie premieres, the construction of on-campus features, as well as creating and competing in events on the local and collegiate level. http://www.facebook.com/groups/lscskiandride/

Music-
Funkstaposition (recorded live)
by The Sanford Blackout
http://www.facebook.com/pages/The-Sanford-Blackout/198840816814764

Shot on a HMC-150 and 60D and edited in Premiere and AfterEffects CS6
Uploaded on Nov 29, 2012 at 3:50pm” - sourced from Adam Klein’s Vimeo page https://vimeo.com/adamklein/tripleberry?share=copy

3. The Sanford Blackout- I'm Givin' Birth to a Nomad

“The Sanford Blackout started in 2010 in the woods of Lyndonville, Vermont. The trio was brought together by their mutual desire to spread good vibes through music. These men of zen include Darby Kitchel (bass), JP Lahens (guitar), and Beau Bomhower (drums). Also recently we have fortunately acquired Geoff Gordon on vocals and Brad Holroyd on keys. The jams spouted forth by the Sanford Blackout are rooted in reggae and laced with fat funk break downs. If you are lucky enough to catch a live show, then you will witness this beast in its natural habitat - the surging energy of the crowd is matched by the band's climactic jams. Their fluid sound is built on swelling build-ups, and weaves through genres to attain a truly unique feel. The Sanford Blackout is a fine smoked cheese that needs no bread to accompany it, so take a bite and taste the jams.

Uploaded on Apr 25, 2013 at 1:16 pm” - sourced from Adam Klein’s Vimeo page https://vimeo.com/64823067?share=copy

4. The Sanford Blackout- The Muffin Jam

“The Sanford Blackout started in 2010 in the woods of Lyndonville, Vermont. The trio was brought together by their mutual desire to spread good vibes through music. These men of zen include Darby Kitchel (bass), JP Lahens (guitar), and Beau Bomhower (drums). Also recently we have fortunately acquired Geoff Gordon on vocals and Brad Holroyd on keys. The jams spouted forth by the Sanford Blackout are rooted in reggae and laced with fat funk break downs. If you are lucky enough to catch a live show, then you will witness this beast in its natural habitat - the surging energy of the crowd is matched by the band's climactic jams. Their fluid sound is built on swelling build-ups, and weaves through genres to attain a truly unique feel. The Sanford Blackout is a fine smoked cheese that needs no bread to accompany it, so take a bite and taste the jams.
Uploaded on Apr 25, 2013 at 1:49 pm” - sourced from Adam Klein’s Vimeo page https://vimeo.com/64825733?share=copy

5. The Sanford Blackout- Funkstaposition

“The Sanford Blackout started in 2010 in the woods of Lyndonville, Vermont. The trio was brought together by their mutual desire to spread good vibes through music. These men of zen include Darby Kitchel (bass), JP Lahens (guitar), and Beau Bomhower (drums). Also recently we have fortunately acquired Geoff Gordon on vocals and Brad Holroyd on keys. The jams spouted forth by the Sanford Blackout are rooted in reggae and laced with fat funk break downs. If you are lucky enough to catch a live show, then you will witness this beast in its natural habitat - the surging energy of the crowd is matched by the band's climactic jams. Their fluid sound is built on swelling build-ups, and weaves through genres to attain a truly unique feel. The Sanford Blackout is a fine smoked cheese that needs no bread to accompany it, so take a bite and taste the jams.
Uploaded on Apr 25, 2013 at 1:16 pm” - sourced from Adam Klein’s Vimeo page https://vimeo.com/64823069?share=copy

© all rights reserved